

TERMS TO APPLY

All submissions to Illustrative Voices exhibitions remain sole copyright and ownership of the respective artists and/or their creators. By virtue of submitting to exhibitions, the entrants certify that the work submitted is their original work and releases their entry for both print and web publication by Illustrative Voices. Illustrative Voices will never sell submitted artwork to any other organization, company, group or individuals, and is only used for print and web publication by Illustrative Voices.

Updated: July 2020